Creating Safer Communities Through Collaboration, Action & Accountability

Key Highlights:

- 60+ attendees at the UCity Public Safety Collaborative Forum
- Co-hosted with Asfalis Advisors, CMPD, UNC Charlotte, Code Enforcement, nonprofits & businesses
- Forum focused on real-time issues and collaborative solutions
CMPD engaged through:
 - Board representation
 - Gift card partnership with businesses & Council Member Tariq
 - Camera installs with Fūsus
 - IKEA safety partnership
 - Support from Community Coordinators
- Forum inspired our upcoming Apartment Management Safety Forum

We're Listening - Turning Community Feedback Into Action

- 250+ survey responses (boosted by video & newsletter outreach)
- 97.8% of respondents participate in recycling
- 79.8% say their neighborhoods are clean
- 90.6% feel safe—but key concerns persist: • Reckless driving • Car break-ins & theft • Homelessness/panhandling

Top Resident Suggestions:

- More police patrols
- Community Cleanup Events
- Improved street lighting
- Recycling education
- Better upkeep by apartment complexes & commercial properties
- Stronger visibility and response to crime concerns

Many residents have shared that University City used to feel much cleaner—now, they feel forgotten.

"I feel that something needs to be done about the growing number of people panhandling at major intersections."

"Code enforcement needs more staff and funding—there are too many violations going unnoticed."

—UCity Residents from survey

Ambassador Program - A Street-Level Solution

The Challenge:

- Community feedback consistently highlights cleanliness, safety, and visibility.
- Apartment managers report persistent litter issues near their complexes.
- Residents ask for more trash bins, better business upkeep, and visible safety presence.

The Solution: Ambassador Program

- Street-level presence to address daily issues: litter, wayfinding, homelessness, and visibility.
- Ambassadors act as our eyes, ears, and helping hands in the community.
- Based on successful models across the state and country.

“We need more people out here who care. It makes a difference just seeing someone walking the block.”
